Coaching Philosophy

Dominick's coaching philosophy is centered on facilitating change at personal, team and organizational level to help clients achieve powerful results in peoples' lives. Dom values the process of discovery, awareness and choice that empowers people to use their inner resources to create the success they want. This is achieved by creating an empowered co-active relationship focusing on what clients are doing in terms of reaching goals, but also on who they are "being" in the process of professional and personal growth. Dom brings passion, authenticity, integrity, curiosity, listening and intuition to his coaching relationships.

Dom believes that at the deepest level, coaching is about helping individuals and teams live in alignment with their values and become the fullest expression of who they are meant to be!
